

Joseph Wayne Johnson

MART 120

GUI Paper

September 1st, 2022

So, my experiences working with Github and the overall GUI was very confusing at first. I spent multiple days trying to figure out how to correctly submit my screenshot and its line of code into the repository folder. The first day and a-half it was in Issues and at first, I thought that was correct but of course it wasn't. I then downloaded the windows application for Github and I'm not that comfortable with that version of the application yet, so as of this moment the main web browser is currently my ideal way of going about it.